

DESIGN DEVELOPMENT

The gradual refinement of each section curve from vertices to fillets (top), and the transformation of the overarching form by the individual control through control curves in plan and section (three iterative steps of transformation). Comparison generated model and final bench (right page).